Village life won't be boring

AN exciting new concept in resort-style community living is giving Victorians aged 55 and over the freedom to choose how they live.

Brookfield Village, a leading over-55s residential community in Melbourne's west, combines stylish new homes with an array of lifestyle facilities.

Residents enjoy the exclusive use of resort-style facilities including a purpose-built clubhouse, championship-style bowling green, secure gated entry, pool and spa complex, family entertainment area and extensive landscaping.

With two-bedroom homes starting at just $169,900 including landscaping, Brookfield Village offers residents a secure, low-maintenance lifestyle and the opportunity to free-up capital to enjoy at their leisure.

"Our residents would rather be playing sport or enjoying a barbecue with new friends than spending time maintaining an old home," Brookfield Village spokesman Dael Perlov says. "Brookfield Village is about the freedom to choose what sort of lifestyle you want — whether it is relaxing with family and friends in your new home, meeting friends at the clubhouse or heading off on holidays.

"At Brookfield Village the choice is yours — it's your home, your life, your future."
